The Urban Waters Learning Network is a peer-to-peer network of people and organizations that share practical on-the-ground experiences in order to improve urban waterways and revitalize the neighborhoods around them. Groundwork USA and River Network are partners in coordinating the Learning Network, providing support and opportunities for members to share successes, challenges, and technical resources.

UWLN engages its members through workshops and activities at the annual River Rally conference, the UWLN website (urbanwaterslearningnetwork.org), a quarterly newsletter, and webinars.

WEBSITE

UWLN received in-kind support from designer Collette Lane to develop a new logo and color scheme for the UWLN website and materials.

The UWLN website reaches an average of 700 people per month, a 17% increase from last year’s average.

A new feature—UWLN Story Maps, which highlight the work of the UWLN members in an interactive way—drew a significant amount of new traffic to the website and resulted in an increase in the average amount of time spent on the website.

UWLN-SUPPORTED COLLABORATIONS

The second edition of Learners to Leaders: the Environmental Justice Literacy Curriculum was developed by Groundwork USA and Groundwork Denver, to be published in Jan 2020. The curriculum incorporated feedback from 75 Green Team students employed throughout the Groundwork network, as well as professionals who attended workshops at Groundwork Assembly 2017, the 2018 Environmental Justice Workshop and Training, and River Rally 2018.

Based on a survey at the beginning of 2019, the UWLN initiated the development of two Collaboratives focused on Anti-Displacement Strategies and Community Resilience. Resources provided for UWLN members throughout the year included webinars, reports, guides, manuals, guest blogs, and in-person discussions at the UWLN Forum about these topics. Expanding on this work, the UWLN will work to create peer-led groups interested in understanding and implementing the strategies that surfaced in the resources and conversations.
